Prof. Federico Marini

Sapienza University, Italy

Professor Marini received his Ph.D. in 2004 from the University of Rome La Sapienza, after completing a Marie Curie scholarship in Slovenia. He later became an Associate Professor in Analytical Chemistry at the same university. Marini's expertise lies in chemometrics, with over 150 international publications, and a book on the subject. He has received accolades, including the Young Researcher Prize from the Italian Chemical Society in 2006 and the Chemometrics and Intelligent Laboratory Systems Award in 2012. Marini has served as a visiting researcher at several universities and research institutes worldwide. He also holds editorial positions in prominent scientific journals, and is actively involved in professional organizations related to chemometrics and spectroscopy.
